day they designed a newspaper covering their experience during the project.

Farewell - 21st Dec

You could feel the chills running down your spine because of the thickness of excitement in the air. Every skivan was mesmerized as 12th graders stepped out of their houses in beautiful sarees, proving all over again that they had indeed grown up.

As soon as Principal, V.P and all the teachers were seated, the most awaited 'Farewell Night' begun with an amazing skit that made everyone nostalgic. Thereafter, the fun dance performances made everyone go crazy. In between, the 12th grade too entertained the audience by singing, dancing and mimicking. Then the soulful singers spread the essence of music all over the surrounding. In between the fun filled performances, an emotional poem brought tears to everyone's eyes. But the humorous stand up later on made everybody laugh their hearts out. The 12th grade was presented with gifts by Principal, VP and other teachers. The show finally ended with a presentation. And then, it was time to set the floor on fire.

After too much of dancing and photography, it was time to have some good food. But before the feast began the cake was cut. And then everyone had the delicious food. All the hard work put in by the class teachers and parallel class teachers of class 11th paid off. And with a feeling of joy and satisfaction farewell 2K17 came to an end.

Reunion of Batch 1972 on 03rd Jan, 2018 in New Delhi

Mission Discovery India 2018

On 10th January, three students went to Pathways School, Aravalli for a workshop on astronomy, namely Mission Discovery India 2018. The students were divided into teams and had a target to make an experiment to send to the International Space Station orbiting around the Earth. The International Space Station is a space lab launched by the NASA where experiments regarding microgravity, micro-magnetic field or high exposure to UV radiations are tested.

Day 1 one commenced with a group photograph followed by the opening ceremony at which a renowned Bharatanatyam dancer performed on Ganesh Vandana sung by a teacher of Pathways.

Day 2 began with ice breaking session followed by a meeting with Mike Fincke, an astronaut who once held a record for staying in space for the highest number of consecutive days. He spoke about all his mission patches. The first challenge for the students was to make a patch and decide on a name for their team. Then the astronaut spoke about his 3 space missions and the 9 spacewalks he had done and also about the hard intense training they had to go through. He also shared how staying away from his family was the biggest challenge. During the activity time, the students were required to build a Mars Lander by using a few days to day things and a limited budget. In this Aditi Jaiswal's team came 1st. The next target was that an egg, assumed as the lander, had to be dropped from the second floor and expected to land without a scratch on it.

Day 3 started with a few talks and videos on presentation skills, and also about what requirements the experiments had to meet. Sarah Murray, an experienced worker at NASA talked about being a black and how she joined NASA and loved working there. Dr. Julie Keeble, a pharmacologist from Kings College, UK talked about pharmacology which is basically the study of drugs in space.

Day 4 was entirely given for working on the experiments and presentations selected experiments were sent to the finale. That night the school organized a gala dinner.

The winners of the previous activities and then the final presentations were screened on the 5th day in which Mansi Jain and Noratna's team were selected.

It was indeed a very enriching experience for the students

Scholarships from University of Wisconsin

It gives me immense pleasure to share that on 6th January 2018, SKV signed MOU with University of Wisconsin for Undergraduate Scholarships up to $7000/-.

Report on Visit to Ehsaas: A school for special children

On 26th January Home Science students of class XI visited Ehsaas: A school for special children, Gwalior. Since it was the Republic day therefore, we decided to celebrate this occasion with them. They presented wonderful cultural programme and we got an opportunity to witness their potential and enthusiasm. We interacted with them and came to know their schedule, hobbies, liking and disliking. We also observed that they made themselves independent with the help of the specific educational pattern and special services offered there. Not only educational needs but vocational training, physiotherapy, medical care, also are given to them. Through our interaction with these children, the students of our school were sensitized with their completeness which was beyond any kind of disability
